Its Platform of Principles and Its Political Demands.

GOVERNMENT TO OWN RAILROADS.

Universal and Equal Right of Suffrage Without Regard To Color, Creed or Sex.

At a regular meeting of Houston Labor Council, held May 19, 1893, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted and ordered printed:

Houston Labor Council to the World of Labor, Greeting:

Houston, Texas, May 19.—Whereas, The federated organization of labor forces of Houston, known as Houston Labor Council, was instituted for the industrial and social benefit of labor, and whereas,

Capital has learned to combine to escape competition.

Labor has learned to divide to escape control.

Capital has learned to use government to further its own designs against labor.

Labor has learned to support government, from which it derives no benefit.

And whereas, The present unhappy condition of labor is largely due to ignorance of industrial and political affairs on the part of the laboring world; and

Whereas, The competitive system of industry, based primarily upon the individual ownership of nature's unmodified resources, and subsequently upon the individual ownership of the tools of production has taken place in a long time was celebrated on Wednesday at the residence of Mr. W. Freund at Columbia, when Miss Martha Levy, niece of Messrs. W. and P. Freund, August Lammensbaum and W. Burchard of Columbus, was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Mr. Mose Breier, a popular young business man of Galveston. The residence of Mr. W. Freund, which is one of the handsomest in Columbia, was tastefully and beautifully decorated with the choicest of flowers and ferns. The parlor where the ceremony was performed was completely adorned by a variety of flowers and tropical plants with a beautiful arbor all covered with sweet smelling roses.

Promptly at 7 p. m. Rev. Dr. Henry Chapman, pastor of the First Congregational Church, presided over the nuptials and the altar and the organ parlors were filled to overflowing. The bride attended by her aunt, Mrs. W. Freund, and her uncle, Mr. A. Lammensbaum, the groom, with his cousin, Mrs. W. Freund, and others, came the three bridesmaids, attended by three groomsman—Miss Louise Lammensbaum and Mr. Sam Breier, Miss Pauline Burchard and Mr. J. H. Parsons of Alton, Ill., Miss Rosa Freund and Mr. Jno. Lammensbaum.

Mr. Cohen delivered the service which made the loving couple husband and wife in his well-known Indian style.

After the ceremony a simple supper was served at which the bridegroom, supported by his friends, the bride and her attendants, the sister and the maid of honor, the three bridesmaids, attended by three groomsman—Miss Louise Lammensbaum and Mr. Sam Breier, Miss Pauline Burchard and Mr. J. H. Parsons of Alton, Ill., Miss Rosa Freund and Mr. Jno. Lammensbaum.

Following the wedding breakfast the bride and groom left for the residence of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Freund, where a few very pleasant hours were spent. A fitting climax to the nuptials was the exchange of the exchange rings and the kiss.

The following morning the bride and groom returned to their home in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lammensbaum, at Waco, a community of 10,000 people, where they will remain until the completion of their studies.
